ISLA DE AVES (Aves Island), only 50x600 Mt. in size, some 800 Km. North of the Venezuelan mainland is inhabited by thousands of birds. It is just 3 Mt. above sea level, overrun by the sea during large storms. The 1970 expedition found the island after much difficulty with navigational help provided by YV stations to YVØAI/MM. From the charted sailboat, the island was seen from less than 8 Km. distance. Despite all difficulties over 4000 QSO's were made. The President of Venezuela speaking from Radio Club Venezolano's Station YV5AJ, greeted the expedition and all amateurs.
